

NOTAMS

January is already at its end! Time surely does fly by. This week we have over half a dozen new products just added to the store, and we are expecting a large influx on new boxed titles later this week or by next Monday. The pace of new releases does not appear to be slowing at all after the xmas rush, and some quality add-ons and hardware products are now available to flight simmers through PC Aviator Australia.

The Carenado Malibu (below) shows all the style and quality typical of Carenado aircraft and is a must-have for any light/general aviation pilot who is looking for the next step up from smaller trainer aircraft. It is an excellent pick.

Just Flights's Viscount was also just added to the store today and is a natural choice for classic aircraft fans. Along with the Comet Jetliner, this Viscount will fill the gap in virtual hangars for larger classic passenger prop aircraft. Buy and download it instantly. Be flying in under 10 minutes!

For the 737 fans, be sure to grab the new Turbine Sound Studio's 737NG HD Sound pack now also available from PC Aviator. TSS are widely regarded as the best third party creators of sound packs for Microsoft Flight Sim, and rightly so.

And last, but certainly not least, the Anthony Lynch from the north coast of NSW has released his new Eagle Light Sport Aircraft model for FSX. Like with other great aircraft from recently (Tecnam Sierra most notably) this Eagle package is a joy to fly, looks great and it functions very well. It is the perfect aircraft for VFR flying in Australia or New Zealand using the recently released FTX New Zealand Scenery, and of course the top-selling FTX Australia package too.

Dean Bielanowski
PC Aviator Australia Manager.

Trouble Paying with Credit Card Via our Website?
Please Read On...

A small number of our customers are experiencing issues on our website when attempting to pay for their orders via credit card. Fortunately, this is relatively easy to fix for those affected.

The PC Aviator Australia website utilizes the services of the ANZ bank to process credit card orders, very securely I might add.

We have also made the decision on our website to use the "Verified by Visa" and "SecureCode" security systems employed by VISA and MasterCard to offer extra security for our customers. These are also often called 3-D verification systems.

What does this all mean?

Basically, it means if anyone has somehow managed to get your credit card number and expiry date, they will NOT be able to use your card to make a purchase on our website. You are protected on our site. However, the other issue is that because of this security measure, you might need to have a separate and bank-issued password for your card to complete an order on our website when paying by credit card. This is NOT a password issued or created by PC Aviator. It is also NOT the same as your PC Aviator store login password. If you cannot complete an order because the system asks for your "password" at the payment page, you will need to enter your "Verified by Visa" or "SecureCode" password (for Mastercards), not your PC Aviator password. If you do not know your credit card "password", please contact the bank that has issued your card to obtain one.

I am sure that once all affected customers do obtain a password for their credit card accounts by their bank, any issues with purchasing on our website will be resolved in almost all cases. If you continue to have problems after obtaining and using your card password on our site, please feel free to contact me. I can always process your order over the phone or via email communication for existing customers.
